

Request token and release token commands go through the same channel, which every node listens to

